Employment

Front-end Developer • Funpodium Apr 2020 - Aug 2022 | Taipei, Taiwan

- Development
 - Designed and developed six microservices, incorporating both Role Service and User Service functionalities.
 - Integrated RESTful APIs seamlessly with Axios, enabling smooth data communication between the front-end and back-end systems.
 - Led the development of a robust Role Service to oversee hierarchical user permissions across microservices, resulting in fortified security measures and improved access control.
 - Utilized Cross-document messaging to facilitate secure communication between iframes and webpages, enhancing interactivity and functionality within web applications.
- Collaboration
 - Reviewing UI designs, designed and defined microservice API contracts using Markdown to ensure seamless collaboration and communication between frontend and backend teams.
 - For a period of nine months, assumed the role of acting project manager while serving as a frontend developer, leading meetings and facilitating communication between the company's backend team, the backend team in Malaysia, and the design team to strategize project directions.
 - Led the development and maintenance of the company's official website in collaboration with internship team members.
 - Conducted code reviews and mentored internship developers, promoting best practices and code quality.
